Her death yesterday followed closely upon what appears to have been the unhappy termination of a love affair. It is stated that during a visit to Livingston, Ala., some months ago, she met and fell in love with a New Orleans man, who apparently recipre cated her affection. After Miss Ander son returned home they corresponded with each other; but recently the New Orleans man ceased writing. The girl brooded over this until her father wrote to the man in regard to the matter. Tuesday morning a reply was received to that letter, and this Mr. Anderson showed to his daughter. The poor young lady at once retired to her room, where it is supposed she first wrote to the man whom she so hopelessly loved. and then set about carrying out the des-perate plan of self-destruction that had nggested itself to ber.

Deugzist L D. Douglas of Webster, testified that Miss Anderson had been so despondent of late that her mother had notified him not to sell her any poison. Last Saturday Miss An-derson had come to his place and tried to buy some laudanum, but he refused to buy some laudanum, but he refused to sell it to her, and had told Miss Andeson of her mother's warning. The young lady's eyes then filled with tears, and she asked Druggist Douglas if he could sell it to her legally against her stepmother's instructions. Upon being again refused, the young lady had left the store and had not since returned. It is supposed that Tuesday

PROBLET Transcript: Mr. Niedringhaus of St. Louis, should be suppressed. Be is trying to get the contract for roofing certain of the World's Fair buildings with American tin. This is going a little too far. Iso't Chicago the place where the Tribune is published, and iso't that the paper which has so persistently and consistently insisted that American tin in commercial quanties could not be produced in this country? It is for bad that It publican papers and orators here in America should prove that Democratic of St. Louis, should be suppressed. Be America should prove that Democratic papers an i Democratic orators are liars, and they shall be allowed to prove this to the whole world by putting a roof o American tin on World's Fair buildings, where it will be visible to the vision of all nutions? Becides, who knows tha such a thing would not be offensive to our Weish brethree? Could they not be expected to put their tin plate on exhibition under a roof covered by American tin? We are fearful this man Neidring haus is a very deep fellow, and is plotting to bring about international complications by proving that Great Britain need not necessarily be the workshop of the world. Truth needs no color; facts need no varush. What we see and know and feel is conclusive against misrepresentation and false prophesy. There is a difference between a tarif bill and a tariff ference between a tariff bill and a tariff law. The one is a proposition; the other is a fact. There is a difference, too, between a tariff law a month old and a tariff law 18 months old. The difference is, not in the toxt—for they are the same—the difference is the opportunity of the demagogue to spread a falsebood about the one that he cannot about the other. The tariff law four weeks old is too young to speak for itself; the tariff law 18 months old talks for itself. It furnishes its own figures and supplies its furnishes its own figures and supplies its own demonstrations, which confuse the demagogue and confound the Democrat. You can say of a departing train that it will never reach its destination. You may frighten some from taking passage and make those who go uncomfortable.

the Kansas Statesman Visits th Illinois Capital and Lincoln's Tomb.

A tail, slender man, with a mousted and a goatee, and a pair of penetrating eyes looking through a pair of gold rimmed spectacles, walked into the state bouse at Springfield yesterday, and after ooking upon the battle flags in memorial hall, the stuffed bears in the zoologics nuseum, and the big wax squashes in Col-Garrard's agricultural show, found his way into the governor's office. Nobody ecognized the tall, slender man as the man who made the state of Kansai famous in the United States senate for eighteen years until Col. Reeves found him looking at the pictures on the wall in the governor's reception room Col. Reeves thought he looked familiar and walking up to him inquired: "This is Senator Ingalla of Kanse not?"

"My name is Ingalls," replied the tall, elender man, but I am not at present a senator from Kansas."

Mr. Iogalie then went in and chatted with Gov. Fifer for an hour, and then, with Gov. Frier for an hour, and then, upon the latter's invitation, went over to the executive mansion and took lunchen with the governor. In the afternoon he accompanied the governor to the Lincoln monument and the Lincoln home.

Ex-Senator Ingalis lectured at Jacksonville last night, and he came over to Springfield this morning for the express express purpose of paying a visit to the timb of Lincoln. He remained in the city until 10 o'clock to-night, when he lett for Kansas City.

Mr. Ingalls was found at his room this afternoon. He would be readily recognized from his published pictures. Anybody who saw and heard Scentor Peffer when he was here at last Summer's Alliance gathering, and who saw John J. Ingalis to-day and heard him talk for five minutes, will appreciate the humilianter with the stark Former's test. five minutes, will appreciate the humiliation which the state Kanesa must feel over the defeat of Mr. Ingalls by the champion of cheap money and long whiskers.

Mr Ingalls was asked if he had anything to say about politics in bleatate.

ning to say about politics in his state.
"There is little to be said at this time said he. "It is yet too early to say much that is not mere speculation. There is just now a good deal of talk of a coali-tion of the Democrats and the Alliance or the Paople's party, as they now choose to call themselves—by which the Alliance is to get the legislature and the democrats the governor. Whether it will be consummated remains to be seen. It seems to me that the prospects of Republican success in Kansas this year are good. The year 1890 was an off year—a disactrons pear. It was a year in which the people of Kanssa took occasion to pay off a good many old scores. There has been a general change of public sentiment in Kansas within the past two years, and in my opinion the Republicans will achieve a splendid victory there this year.

year. "What do you think of the strength of the Farmers' Albance in Kansas as com pared with the last campaign?" "That is a matter of conjecture. The ultimee is stronger in Kansas, of curse, than a where else in the country on account of their victory there in 1890; but count of their victory there in 1899; but as to its etrength one man's opinion is as good as another's. Evidently the alliance is on the wane."

"There seems to be some talk, senator of sending you back to Washington as congresman.at-large; how about it?"

"Yes, that is true; but it is mere talk. So far as I am concerned, my retirement from public life is final. I have been talked of for congressmentatelarge, for delegate to the national convention and for other places of honor, but I have peremptorily declined them all. My interest in politics, however, is unabated and I expect to do my share in the ensuing campaign in winning a victory for the Republican party."—Spring field
